WHO ATTENDS THE BOARD-READY BOOTCAMP

This award-winning online bootcamp is designed specifically for women, tech leaders of color, and openly LGBTQ+ tech leaders who are currently in senior executive positions at tech companies and ready to make the leap to serve on a tech company or other board. The Bootcamp is especially encouraging nominations of Black and Latinx executives.

BOARD-READY Bootcamp is now the gold standard for every business or professional organization that is serious about racial and gender diversity on boards within their industry. Everything about the Bootcamp was well thought out and flawlessly orchestrated. The room itself was inclusive from participants to faculty members and panelists. It was an amazing day.

— Colette A. Phillips, President/CEO, Colette Phillips Communications

PARTICIPANTS WILL:

- Learn both theory and practical insights during real-time interactive sessions and panels
- Participate in small, targeted break-out sessions with faculty and group mentors
- Join an online discussion where participants interact, ask questions and share resources
- Get connected to industry leaders and bootcamp peers who can help you on your board journey

What People Are Saying

“The Board-Ready Bootcamp is like being taken under the wing of a good friend on the first day at a new school. The highly qualified speakers demystified and explained the somewhat opaque nature of how boards work and clearly laid out how and why to be on a board.”
– Jules Pieri, Co-Founder & CEO, The Grommet

“I had no idea how much I didn’t already know about this field, despite it being so well aligned with my growth aspirations and abilities. Now I’m on the path! I would highly recommend this program for my most talented peers in the technology community that have already found their entrepreneurial side but are still craving more ways to grow and to give back.”
– Andre Black, Vice President of Products, Allego, Inc.
The virtual bootcamp experience was surprisingly more engaging, especially the chat feature made the discussion more inclusive and enabled attendees to get the questions out which would’ve been harder to do in person. I thought the pace was great, things moved fast, and the content combined with panels offered a great immersive experience.

– Nausheen Moulana, VP of Engineering & Operations, Kyruus
ABOUT THE BOARD-READY BOOTCAMP

The Board-Ready Bootcamp was created in 2019 to improve the quality of board governance and composition at tech companies by providing a high-impact curriculum on board fundamentals, strategy and governance. The Bootcamp became an immersive interactive online experience in 2020 in response to the global COVID-19 pandemic and is today supported by the Massachusetts Technology Leadership Council (MassTLC), and other tech organizations across the US and Canada. To date, over 160 leaders have participated in the bootcamp from over 130 different companies and locations across the United States and around the world.
